Psychologists Jeffrey Young and Janet Klosko call these beliefs "lifetraps"™ and created the workbook Reinventing Your Life to help people identify and change these destructive patterns. Also known as schemas (pronounced "skee-mas"™), lifetraps are deep-rooted beliefs about ourselves and the world that we learn in childhood and gradually ...

Reinventing Your Life came highly recommended by a therapist who is helping me work through a series of traumatic events that took place in my early adulthood. It is an introduction to schema therapy, or what the authors refer to as "lifetraps" - self defeating, self destructive patterns of behavior that are essentially comfortable (but damaging) recreations of traumas we have suffered in childhood or early adulthood - and an explanation of how to move past them.
